Complaints Handling Procedure

At Ctrl Alt Solutions DMCC (Ctrl Alt), we aim to provide our customers with excellent client service but at times things can go wrong. If you are unhappy with our service, or think there is a problem, please let us know immediately.

How to make a complaint

Complaints should be addressed in writing, this can be done via email to complaints@ctrl-alt.co, via the Online Complaint Form which be found on the 'Contact Us' section of our website, www.ctrl-alt.co, or by letter to the following address:

Ctrl Alt Solutions DMCC
DMCC Business Centre
Level No. 12

We will resolve complaints as quickly as we can. Some complaints require detailed investigation and/or a dialogue with third parties and can take some time to resolve.

Where a complaint involves a 3rd party or other entity we work with, we shall remain responsible for the resolution of the complaint and will establish a procedure to facilitate the handling of the complaint.

How will we handle your complaint?

When we receive a complaint via our complaint form, email or letter, a member of our team will immediately pass the details to our Compliance Officer, Lee Bowyer.

The customer making the complaint will receive confirmation of the receipt of the complaint within one business day (for physical letters, this will be one day from when the letter is received) along with details of how it will be handled.

We have two levels of complaint:

1. A complaint where we can resolve it informally within one week of you confirming its nature. When we resolve such a complaint informally we will write to you summarising the complaint, the resolution we agreed with you at the time and details of what to do if you disagree with our proposed resolution.

2. Where a complaint cannot be resolved informally we will enter the formal complaint process, which we aim to resolve as soon as possible and in any event within four weeks of notification. In some extraordinary circumstances, the resolution may take up to eight weeks. In these cases, the customer will be updated on the status of the complaint and Ctrl Alt will explain the reasons for the delay before the initial four week deadline.

Where we cannot resolve your problem within one week.

We will acknowledge your complaint in writing (Letter of Acknowledgment) within one week of receipt. This letter may contain our offer to settle where appropriate.

If your complaint relates to a product or service that we arranged for you, but the matter is the responsibility of the product or service provider rather than our firm, we will refer the matter to the provider within one week and write to you to confirm this, together with appropriate contact details for the provider concerned.

The acknowledgement letter will confirm that -

1. We will investigate the complaint and respond fairly and promptly.
2. Our Compliance Officer will review the details surrounding the matter complained about and will examine the file and any other relevant information. If the complaint is in respect of business conducted by our Compliance Officer then another senior employee will investigate.
3. Once the investigation is completed then our Compliance Officer will write a "Final Response" letter to you with their appraisal of the matter, our final decision and the nature and terms of any settlement, if applicable. If we decide an offer of redress is appropriate, any compensation we offer will be a fair offer taking all the facts into account.

If we write to you and you do not respond within eight weeks of our "Final Response letter" we will treat the matter as closed.

If the investigation is not completed within four weeks following the initial receipt of the complaint, you will be informed of the reasons for the delay:

1. Setting out why the matter is still unresolved.
2. Giving you a full summary of our investigation to date, explaining why we have not been able to conclude the matter and when we expect to do so.

The response will also provide details by which the customer can refer the complaint to VARA if the customer is not satisfied with Ctrl Alt's proposed resolution of the complaint.

No fees will be charged to customers for the investigation or resolution of any complaints.

Record Keeping & Reporting

The Compliance Officer will maintain a Complaints Register with full details of each case. This information will form part of the regular board reporting management information and will also be available for VARA to review.

The Complaints Register will include, as a minimum:

- the details of all complaints received from clients;
- the details of all measures taken in response to any complaints; and
- how all complaints were resolved.

The information from the Complaints Register is then used to analyse whether there are any systemic/recurring issues (Root Cause Analysis) at the Firm. VARA is to be notified about any complaints in which a breach of VARA rules have been identified or if any systemic issues have been identified.

Records relating to all complaints must be maintained for at least 8 years from the date of receipt.
